 The United States Marshals Museum (USMM) has received foundational support from organizations like the Hille Foundation in Tulsa, Oklahoma, the Walton Family Foundation in Bentonville, Arkansas, and several other key institutions.

 The USMM Foundation is a separate 501(c)(3) nonprofit “sister” organization, the other being the USMM. A staff of three individuals make up the Foundation team: President Alice K. Alt, President Emeritus Jim Dunn, and Development Coordinator Jennifer Seaton-Rambo.

 The USMM is proud to have the support of former U.S. Marshals Service leadership —from former Directors like John Clark, Stacia Hylton and David Harlow, to former Interim Acting Directors like Louie McKinney, Neil DeSousa and many others. The support of the USMS is key for us moving forward and we’re grateful.

 The USMM worked closely with our congressional delegation in securing approval of the U.S. Marshals Service 225th Anniversary Commemorative Coins. The USMM marketed the coins nationwide and locally, which resulted in $3.1 million for the Museum.

 The United States Marshals Museum dedicated the Mary Carleton & Robert A. Young III building and Samuel M. Sicard Hall of Honor to the public on September 24, 2019, in conjunction with the 230th year anniversary for the USMS.
