Media Requests

The United States Marshals Museum (USMM) can provide media organizations with high-resolution images and/or HD b-roll of the USMM as well as artifacts from its collection upon request.

Additionally, if you are planning a photo and/or video shoot on the grounds of the USMM, you must receive prior written authorization from the marketing department. This includes filming at the USMM, whether for a documentary, travel show, or any other purpose. These requests are evaluated on a case-by-case basis.

If you are interested in obtaining any of the USMM's digital assets or who have any other specific media inquiries, please contact the Museum at (479) 242-1789 or by email her at info@usmmuseum.org.

Marketing Information

The United States Marshals Museum (USMM) is a not-for-profit institution dedicated to sharing the wealth of stories and honoring the history of the U.S. Marshals Service. Our marketing department is responsible for attracting, welcoming, retaining, and increasing the number of visitors from around the city, state, country, and world.

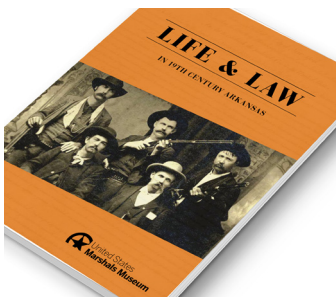

One way the marketing Department helps drive people to the USMM is through its newsletter detailing highlights from different departments. Visit our website, usmmuseum.org, to sign up!

The department is also responsible for marketing and advertising the USMM's schedule in print and online publications, working in collaboration with outside agencies to maximize exposure of the USMM.

In addition, the marketing department is able to assist the media with story ideas, interviews with experts, images, or scheduling a visit.

All logos & assets are available for usage. To request these items, please contact the Museum at (479) 242-1789 or by email at info@usmmuseum.org.

A MORE PERFECT UNION: U.S. MARSHALS AND OUR GOVERNMENT

A More Perfect Union: U.S. Marshals and Our Government looks at how the U.S. Marshals are closely tied with all three branches of the U.S. Government. Created to serve the Judicial Branch, housed under the Executive Branch, and working for the Legislative Branch, they are in a unique position among federal law enforcement.
